BRITISH POLITICS

RAPIDLY APPROACHING A CRISIS
London, Nov. 17.—November 20 is the date fixed for dissolution of Parliament.

London, Nov. 18.—On his arrival from Sandringham today, King George received Premier Asquith. Postponement by the government of the announcement of its programme and frequent communications between the King and the cabinet have deepened the impression that His Majesty may have refused to give a guarantee of the creation of new peers.

Under the circumstances the resignation of the cabinet appears more probable than an immediate dissolution of parliament.

In their political circles there is a conviction that the monarch will have difficulty in avoiding the danger of being involved in a crisis.

Extreme Liberal papers hint that King George has already taken sides with the House of Lords in the great controversy.

The Daily News, which is supposed to reflect the opinions of the Rt. Hon. David Lloyd-George, says that the resignation of the cabinet would mean that a monarchial revolution had been added to the vexed question of the creation of peers.

London, Nov. 18.—The general anticipation now is that the election will be held in December. The Chronicle says it is certain to be fought and won by December 20. The latest rumor on the street is that parliament will be dissolved on November 26.

A cabinet meeting on Monday or Tuesday will decide what steps the government will take to bring the political crisis to a focus.

The plan most likely to be agreed upon is the immediate dissolution of parliament. While the government might send a bill outlining its veto proposals to the house of lords for consideration, the lords would certainly reject it, but probably would consume much time in the consideration and discussing the general question of the reform of the upper house.

Lord Roseberry last session. Immediate dissolution will save time and perhaps make possible the holding of elections before the holidays.

Premier Asquith returned yesterday forenoon from Sandringham, where he was in conference with the King. No further steps in arranging the government's programme are likely to follow the cabinet meeting.

THOU SHALT NOT KILL.

Helena, Mont., Nov. 15.—Arrived with an opinion from the Attorney General that the killing or rounding-up and shipping from the State of the remainder of the Pablo herd of buffaloes would be a violation of the State laws, game warden Ayers left here tonight for the Flathead reservation to prevent any such action by the party of Canadian hunters, who are said to be now en route to Montana for the purpose. The original herd was sold to the Canadian government several years ago and annual round-up followed with the result that with the exception of thirty or forty all were culled and shipped across the line to a reserve created by the Canadian Government. The Government then granted permission to a party of hunters to come over and slaughter the rest. Proteste poured in to the state officials and being referred to the Attorney General he holds that the animals have reverted to their wild state and cannot now be hunted, killed or shipped. Nations trouble may follow any attempt by the Canadians to slaughter them as intended.

NO DISTRESS EXISTS.

Mr. Rose, relief agent of the Dominion Immigration Department, returned yesterday from a trip through the district to the south-west of Medicine Hat with a very encouraging report. In the 34 townships covered during the past week, only two cases were found requiring assistance. One of these was a widow with five small children, who is homesteading a claim successfully. Neighbors of this family have displayed unusual generosity and have broken ground and harvested more than sufficient to prove her claim. The other family had not met with hard luck by the loss of a horse and some cattle. In one newly settled township only about ten bushels of seed grain will be required. Seed potatoes and fodder are scarce, however, and the agent has been requested to endeavour to secure feed for live stock at reasonable prices.

Mr. Rose will meet Mr. C.W. Squires (Colonization Agent, Moose, Charles Meyers and L. Roy, relief agents in this district, and the work will be fully discussed.

PRISON CONGRESS.

AND JUVENILE DELINQUENTS.

Supt. R. B. Chadwick, who represented the Province of Alberta at the International Prison Congress held in Washington, D.C., states that all past experience confirms prison workers in eliminating as far as possible the vindictive idea from punishment and educating the morally weak or vicious to the point of useful citizenship.

"Probation has proved a most powerful factor in the moral reform of adults, for too often a man comes more in judgment than in intent, and the sound advice and kindly help of a probation officer not infrequently is all the needs to steady him on his feet. In the case of children, from ninety to ninety-seven per cent. respond at once to probation treatment."

"The Russian delegate surprised the Congress by reporting that mild sentences in reformatories, correction of physical defects, probation under supervision, removal from bad surroundings, industrial schools with trade and education department are among the good things that his country is utilizing in the correction and reformation of children."

The work done among the children of France compares favorably with that done in any other part of the world. France places a delinquent child in the custody of friends or relatives during the time it is awaiting trial.

The speaker claims the right of decision as to whether or not a child is capable of discretion and bases its finding on that opinion. In appointing judges to take the cases of juvenile delinquents, they are chosen from among the men on the Bench who have special qualifications for the work. All delinquent children under twelve are provided security and surveillance through a corps of probation officers, and a complete system of reporting. A competent industrial investigator the home conditions and surroundings of all children dealt with by the court as essential to gain the true bearings and in order to meet the true needs of the child."

Progress was in favor of prevention. Prevention not only retains the earning capacity of the individual and his good citizenship as an asset to the state but saves the heavy expense of his incarceration. Prevention is vigilant in diverting into channels of useful activity the energy which would otherwise dissipate. It is safe to forecast that the reform work of the future will follow along these lines. By devoting more thought, effort, time and money to the care and education of children the state is the gainer not only by the fruitful returns of worthy lives but by the enhanced progress of the nation."

The Department of Neglected Children, Edmonton, invites correspondence from all persons interested in rescuing child life, protecting neglected children and providing homes for the homeless.

The subject in the Presbyterian Church next Sunday will be "Money all gone."

An eclipse of the moon took place on Wednesday evening. This reminds us of an order once delivered by the lieutenant of a company of infantry to the sergeant, who was directed to inform the men that they would be addressed that evening upon the subject of an eclipse. The sergeant gave out the order thus:—"By command of Lieutenant— the company will parade at 6.30 to hear an address upon the eclipse of the moon. If the weather is wet the eclipse will take place in the drill-shed."

The Grand Trunk Pacific has given notice of its intention to apply at the next session of the Parliament of Canada for the authority to construct several branch lines, among them being one from a point on the western division of their railway between the east limit of range 9 and the west limit of range 10, west of the fourth meridian thence in a south-westerly and westerly direction to a junction with the line within or near townships 29, 40 or 41. It would appear therefore that the Grand Trunk will push one of their branch lines through at a point somewhere between Wainwright and Grassy Lake, these two representing ranges 9 and 13 respectively.

A large fly-proof shed thirty feet square constitutes the monkey house. As the mortality was heavy among the animals through being imprisoned, and in view of their preference for the open air, Sir David Bruce has slowly displaced the monkey shed in favor of separate open boxes set up on posts a few feet above the ground, in which the animals are kept in the open air, and in which they are in perfect health. the sleeping sickness should be present in many areas where this fly is non-existent, full particulars should be communicated to the laboratory. The co-operation of officials, military and civilian, is essential in the effort to stamp out the scourge, and, moreover, doubts concerning any other epidemic and strange disease are requested for the purpose of investigation. Prof. Koch, Berlin, advanced the theory that the disease can be spread by a man returning to his home from a disease-infected area, though the importance of this is fully realized, the commission maintains that it never occurs, but the possibility is not excluded. The commission is of the opinion that the spread of the disease in the lake zone are in request, and natives and hunters are asked to dispatch for investigation the heart full of blood from any hippopotamus killed on land or shallow water, since the animal is one of those that are attacked by the fly.

Ons. Mrs. Harrison operates an iron ore mine with a capacity of 40,000 tons a year. Here Mrs. Harrison's representative is F. E. Mordaunt. NEW OCEAN CHAIR

CHAIRS in the saloons of steamships are sometimes fastened to the floor at a distance from the table which suggests ample proportions on the part of the intending sitter.

CHAIRS in the saloons of steamships are sometimes fixed to the floor at a distance from the table which suggests simple proportions. One of the purposes of the intending stater is to sit down at the table, and he is obliged to sit down. A thin person finds himself a long way from the table unless he seats himself on the edge. A new chair has been devised which is fitted with a vacuum cup underneath so that it can be located at any spot and fixed rigidly. The device provides for a simple method of breaking the vacuum at any moment by pulling a door or rubber ring. The chair is fixed as firm as a rock, and will hold until the vacuum is lifted as firm as a nail; on a carpet it may be necessary to lift the chair and renew the vacuum from time to time.
